

INVITATION TO BE A REVIEWER OF THE BHUTAN JOURNAL

Becoming a reviewer for the Bhutan Journal signifies your esteemed status in the academic community. Reviewers at The Bhutan Journal are esteemed scholars known for their unwavering commitment, punctuality, and unimpeachable integrity. Their contributions have been instrumental in enhancing the journal's reputation. Familiarity with Bhutanese topics is a notable advantage. Although the reviewer roster is not fixed, it's essential to underline that the peer review process remains confidential.

We heartily invite prospective reviewers who aspire to be part of our esteemed reviewers' roster to contact Bhutan Watch by email, providing the following comprehensive information:

Academic Profile (100 words): Offer a concise yet compelling overview of your academic journey, emphasising your exceptional achievements.

Keywords (5-10): A list of pertinent keywords that encapsulate your areas of expertise.

ORCID ID or Academic Website Link: Share a link to your ORCID ID or a personal academic website, showcasing your scholarly contributions.

High-Resolution Photograph: Include a high-quality photograph, ensuring it presents you in the best professional light.

Reviewers may expect requests for review of up to two articles and at least two meetings per year.

Your participation as a The Bhutan Journal reviewer holds the promise of enriching both your academic portfolio and the scholarly discourse within our esteemed journal. Join us in our mission to advance knowledge and understanding of Bhutan.

[Note: While we cordially invite the editors and reviewers of The Bhutan Journal to submit articles to for the same as either lead or co-authors. If you choose to do so, kindly indicate your role (The Bhutan Journal) in the cover letter. In-house submissions will be overseen by an impartial third-party editor who will facilitate a double-blind review process.]